REVISION HISTORY 3

Purpose

This cookie policy ("Policy") describes what cookies are and how they are being used by the valu.eco website ("Website" or "Service") and any of its related products and services (collectively, "Services"). This Policy is a legally binding agreement between you ("User", "you" or "your") and ValueCo SAS (doing business as "ValueCo", "we", "us" or "our"). If you are entering into this agreement on behalf of a business or other legal entity, you represent that you have the authority to bind such entity to this agreement, in which case the terms "User", "you" or "your" shall refer to such entity. If you do not have such authority, or if you do not agree with the terms of this agreement, you must not accept this agreement and may not access and use the Website and Services. You should read this Policy so you can understand the types of cookies we use, the information we collect using cookies and how that information is used. It also describes the choices available to you regarding accepting or declining the use of cookies. For further information on how we use, store and keep your personal data secure, see our privacy policy.

Policy

What are cookies?

Cookies are small pieces of data stored in text files saved on your computer or other devices when websites are loaded in a browser. They are widely used to remember you and your preferences, either for a single visit (through a "session cookie") or for multiple repeat visits (using a "persistent cookie"). ValueCo uses cookies when you visit the ValueCo platform to help customize and improve the users' experience. To make full use of the platform, your computer, tablet or mobile phone will need to accept the cookies.

Session cookies are temporary cookies that are used during the course of your visit to the Website, and they expire when you close the web browser. Persistent cookies are used to remember your preferences within our Website and remain on your desktop or mobile device even after you close your browser or restart your computer. They ensure a consistent and efficient experience for you while visiting the Website and Services.

Cookies may be set by the Website ("first-party cookies"), or by third parties, such as those who serve content or provide analytics services on the Website ("third-party cookies"). These third parties can recognize you when you visit our website and also when you visit certain other websites.

What type of cookies do we use?

Our cookies are first-party cookies and can be either permanent or temporary. These are necessary cookies, without which the platform would not work correctly or be able to provide certain features and functionalities. Some of these may be manually disabled in your browser but may affect the functionality of the platform. Depending on their function and intended purpose, different types of cookies are identified:

- Required cookies: also referred to as strictly necessary cookies, they are essential to enable users to navigate and operate basic platform functions. These include cookies required to allow registered users to authenticate and perform account-related functions.
- Analytics and performance cookies: they are used exclusively for statistical purposes by collecting information about how users reach and interact with the platform with the aim of identifying overall patterns and improving the users' experience. These cookies enable us to monitor and improve the performance of our website. These cookies do not contain personal information such as names and email addresses and are used to help us improve your user experience of the Website.
- Security cookies: they help identify and prevent security risks. We use these cookies to authenticate users and protect user data from unauthorized parties.
- Site management cookies: they are used to maintain the user's identity or session on the platform to avoid logging off unexpectedly and to retain the information from page to page. Site management cookies cannot be turned off individually.
- Functionality cookies: they let us operate the Website and Services in accordance with the choices you make. For example, we will recognize your username and remember how you customized the Website and Services during future visits.
- Third-party cookies: they gather and track users' behavior with the aim of creating a user profile for web analytic purposes. These cookies can be manually disabled in your browser.

What are your cookie options?

If you don't like the idea of cookies or certain types of cookies, you can change your browser's settings to delete cookies that have already been set and not accept new cookies. Please note, however, that if you delete cookies or do not accept them, you might not be able to use all the features the Website and Services offer.

Most browsers are set to accept cookies by default. However, you can remove or reject cookies in your browser's settings. Please be aware that such action could affect the availability and functionality of the platform.

For more information on how to control cookies, check your browser or device's settings for how you can control or reject cookies, or visit the following links:
